auch an effort. One cannowners asking muchosit is probable that so meny books can last. As to some, there may be much difference of opinion, but not so, we venture to think, with this particular book, which soggests to us the simile of a frail bark, built of materials wellthis particular book, which soggests to us the simile of a frail bark, beilt of materials wellnigh rotten before they were put together, and covered with so thin a coat of varnish that it could not hope to float long on the sea of adverse currents and contrary winds, on which it has been launched. The book begins with a preface written by a French lady who enjoys a considerable literary reputation, but she has been in Egypt as a bourist, and our readers know only too well what the lady tourist can write on Egypt. It has often been said that the most important part of a lady's letter is generally in the posteript, and we think that this prelace is no exception to the rule, for it fells us that the author of the book was only twenty-one years old when he delivered his first political oration at Toulouse, in 1.95; for the book consists of the reproduction of about a dozen political speeches made by the author between that date and 1904, and all of them on the same subject in 1.e95; for the book consists of the reproduction of about a dozen political speeches gode by the author between that date and 1904, and all of them on the same subject—the abuse of the English occupation of Egypt. We are thus, informed that the author was only eight years old at the time of the "events" in 1882, so that his personal experience of a previous state of things in Egypt could only be of the very slightest; had it been greater, he would have known that if he or any of his countrymen had then dared, in the times to which he looks back with so much regret, to air their political opinions, with the same freedom which he has used, he would promptly have found himself up the White Nile or in some Egyptian prison from which he would have brought away lively recollections of personal discomfort. From further information we gather that the author, soon atter he had finished with the milk bottle, was sent to France to imbibe knowledge ataseat of learning which was in those days—a hotted for the relitivation of anti-English notions, and when he returned there, at the age of 21, the value of his own personal experience—in this country could hardly be set at a very high figure. He was certainly gifted with very considerable fluency of speech, but he seems to forget, or to be but little grateful for the fact, that it was only the fortunate circumstance of an English occupation which permitted him to make use of what it most Oriental countries is considered a very obnoxious qualification.

Our readers will appreciate the author's meagre personal experience; this might have a very obnexious qualification.

Our readers will appresiate the author's meagre personal experience; this might have been backed up by historical research as to the circumstances of other foreign occupations, of this and other countries. Before he publishes of this and other coun ries. Before he publishes a second edition we would recommend the author to read Napo.co.'s correspondence on the French, occupation of Egypt, and the history of the first twenty years of their occupation of Argiers. From the first he would find that after a slight disturcance in Cairo, which had been put down with an iron hand, Napoleon writes to his General there to continue to out off a faw heads every day for some time, so as to maintain a proper amount of respect; from the second he would read of deeds of cruelty which might well make him shudder. Let him compare these with the state of Egypt durint the last 24 years — but fortunately the British occupation of Egypt does not want such an apologist as the author might have been, if better informed. That he should have published such a book 8 or 10 years ago would not have astoniahed us, but now that the "onteate cerdials" has fortunately torn away the veil, through which our. a second edition we would recor and the LONGO COPPASSON CHEST AND ENGLISH.

EGYPTIAN ESTATES.

ANOTHER BIG DEAL

PURCHASE OF HOTEL DU NIL.

The Egyptian Estates, Limited, have The Egyptian Es'ates, Limited, have concluded another most important transaction, by which the Cairo Hotel du Nil. of world wide, fame—having been founded in 1836—will after the close of this reason pass into the hands of the company, who have acquired the property not for hotel purposes but for development as a building estate. The property comprises over 7.300 pics and is situated right in the heart of the Monsky, within a stone's throw of property which has recently charged hands at L. E. 65 a metre. We understand that the terms on which the Egyptian Estates have acquired this valuable building property are such that a large profit will accuse therefrom.

THE PRICE OF LAND.

We learn that the Egyptian Land Investment Company has sold the land formerly occupied by the Autofage engineering works in Alexandria at the price of about L.E. 30,910, which represents a profit to the o-mpany, realised in a few mouths, of close on L.E. 11,000. This is one of the many pro-fis of the increasing value of land in Alexandria and of property in general in Egypt.

ABTURD CLAIMS.

OTHER SCHOOLS COME OUT.

The inaubordination which has onliminated in the strike at the Khedivial Law School, Cairo, has been simmering for the last ten days and finally eams to a head on Sunday, when the pupils decided to go out in a body. Some of the students appear to have made certain complaints re the naw regulations, to which the Musiarry of Public Instruction paid to attention, and the punishment of tentain punish of the third class for an in-contain complaints on the new regulations, to which the Ministry of Public Instruction paid no attention, and the punishment of react in pupils of the third class for an infraction of diveipline caused further ill-feeling. Five pupils rext got into trouble for non-attendance at locures, etc., and were forbidden to enter for the examinations at the end of the year. This decision resulted in a strike which apread from the first class throughout the school. Mr. Archibald the sub-director, called upon the strikers to choose three delegates to put their complaints before the authorities. They replied by choosing twenty—four, who presented a kind of manifesto containing cleven demands, a sort of declaration of the right of the pupil with no reference to his duties. The demands were:—

1. That no pupils he forbidden to enter for the examinations at the end of the year.

2. Pupils, already forbidden to enter for these examinations, to be allowed the right of entering for them.

3. That pupils should only be examined on antispects included in the course.

4. That each pupil, who fails in the examination for a higher class at the end of the examined on the course.

B. That pupils should only be examined on subjects inclinded in the course.

4. That each pupil, who fails in the examination for a higher class at the end of the year, should be allowed to take it again.

5. No afternoon school.

6. A week to be allowed the students for recopitulation before the examinations at the end of the term and a forteight before the examinations at the ond of the year.

7. That the school doors should not be closed during the courses and that pupils should be allowed to enter or leave the school at any time.

8. That marks for attendance and diligence should not be counted in the examination at the end of the year.

9. That a Commission be formed for the examination of the lat class.

10. The pupils are resolved not to return to the school till these claims are satisfied. In consequence their delegates will attend at the school for an hour daily to await the answer of the authorities.

M. Grandmoulin, the director of the Law

M. Grandmoulin, the director of the Law School, agreed to lay these demands—with the exception of No. 10—before the authorities. The students answered in effect, "All or nothing!" and decided to continue the strike. Meetings in the Cairo public gardens are attended by large and enthusiastic parties of the strikers, and it appears that orators who have no connection with the school's have urged them to continue their resistance.

The pulje of the School of Medicine and the Polytechnic talk of sending a patition to the Ministry of Public Instruction demanding that the conditions claimed by the atrikers abould be cyried out. If matters also there not much harm will be done, but we are informed that a number of these young people threaten to start a sympathetic strike in imitation of the law students unless the Government agrees to the demands of the latter. We can only express the hope that they will think better of it at the last memont and that the strikers and their supporters will realise that it is absurd to dream that the Ministry will or can comply with such mad demands as those we have given above. The partirans of the excension of Higher Education in Egypt will not be encouraged by the fact that students representing the pick of the Government secondary schools can make such imbedile claims. Are boys to be allowed to run in and out of their classes whenever they please I Are they to do no afternoon work when three days in the week are half-bolidays I Do they seriously expect that pupils will be allowed to take the same examination and fail year after year? The idea is abaurd.

We are informed that in consequence of resolutions passed at a meeting hald by the students of the Law School yesterday, and attended by delegates from the Polytechnic School and the School of Medicine, the pupils School and the School of Medicine, the pupils of the latter schools decided to go on strike, as a mark of their sympathy with the claims of the law stude ts. The meeting held yester day was extremely animated, an English lady, who rashly endeavoured to say a few words being hooted down and insulted by the products of the Higher Education in Egypt.

KHEDIVIAL OPERA HOUSE. LA TOSCA.

A very good performance. The title-rôle was in the capable hands of Sigra. Bellincioni, who sang beautifully throughout But we were even more struck by her superb acting, which called for special mention in Acts II. and III. Sigr. Giovanni Polese as Scarpia was heard to great advantage, and his magnificent voice, wonderfully rich in tune, delighted all his hearers. His rendering of the part was particularly fine. Sigr. Jose Palet in the first act was at times almost completely drowned by the ordiserta, and in order to be heard was obliged to force his voice. This should not be the case. Occasionally the conductor seemed to lose sight of the fact that his orchestra was accompanying—a most common fault. Nevertheless Sig. Palet sustained the rôle of Mario with artistic feeling and his singing of the famous sole in the last act was one of the best rendered items in the whole opers.

Tuesday's performance, which was under he distinguished patronage of M. Pierre Girard, Consul-General for France, was fully up to the usual standard and kept the audience in continual merriment. The first part of the entertainment consisted of a play in one act entitled "A Sudden Arrival" and in which all the characters were exceedingly well portrayed. The songs were well sung choruses rendered with spirit, and the piece went with a verve seldom excelled by amateurs much older than our youthful "mummra." As has been the over for several years, the stage management was in the able and her soit hands of M. J. Pearce-Hill.

COMPARISON WITH THE RIVIERA

A correspondent writes to us as follows:

The attempt to naturalise the products of the Riviera in Cairo—I refer to the recent Battle of Flowers and the still more recent "Corso Fleuri"—is considered by some to be worthy of support and is certainly being becomed for all it is worth by the Committee of Fates and the local Press. But I should like your permission to point out that there is a vest difference between the Riviera and Cairo, and that diversions that are popular and amusing enough at Monte Carlo are likely to become in every sense "impossible" in the Egyptian Capital. A triend, whose knowledge of Europe is extensive and peopliar, remarked to me shortly after Sunday's cutertainment, that such performances were only tolerable in places, like Monte Carlo, whose the population during the season was composed for the most part of French demi-mondaines and South American restoueres. The former looked so ornamental and the latter threw about their own (and other people") money with such lays brodigation that the corresponding the batter threw about their own (and other people") money with such lays brodigative the Corresponding the season was composed for the most part of French demi-mondaines and South American restoueres. A correspondent writes to us as follows

Prench densi-mondaines and Bouth American rastequères. The former looked so ornamental and the latter threw about their own (and other people's) money with suchlayish prodigality that Corses and similar entertainments were at once picturesque and popplar.

The recent open-air sintertainments given by the Committee of Fêtes have sumphatically not been picturesque. I admit that a few wall-decorated carriages or well-designed groups were to be reen at each, but one awallow, or half a dozen for that matter, does not make a summer, and the spectacle of a decorpit arabich, decorated by three bunches of wilted violets and surmounted by a consumptive palm, driving an overdressed and semi-Oriental family formed and rour da grandstand, does not in the least impress ms. Nor do I care to be pelted in the atreets by the wrong sort of people. The class that hurls confetti in the Riviera is composed of persons who, whatever their morals—and they are good enough in many cases—pay an outward and visible respect for the consecunces and play the fool is locolike civilised beings. On Sunday, parties of enthesiastic Levantine shop-boys, reinforced by a polykjot contingent of waiters all bottle-washers, carried the confetti battle from Ghezireh into the Cairo attreets. Here is one of their performances. On the afternoon of the last fête a carriage with two ladies drove up to the Khedivial Club and stopped, one of their performances. NOTES FROM MENA

Mena House, Tuesday.

While all Cairo Society is enjoying the rvolty of fashion, Mena House is continuing the more healthy pleasures of country life and sport. Cricket matches, golf handicaps, paper-chases exchange each other with excursions in the desert, ponic parties, etc., and since the weather out here is so delightful the hotel is full and there is nower a single room disnessed. On Sunday last many people came out to luncheon, to such an extent that the big duing hall had the appearance of a Gymkhana day, and in the afternoon many people drove up in carriages to spend a few hours in the pleasant hotel gardens or on the terrace where Bracele's band was performing. On Monday morning Lady Cromer and Lady Beatries Thynn, with the Hon. NO DANGER OF RISING.

PEKING, February 27. PSKING, February 27.

China has decided to make representations to America regarding the sending troops to the Philippines for Chinese contingencies, declaring that no symptoms exist of any anti-foreign movement. The Boxer rising will never be repeated. China will instruct her representatives abroad to make a similar declaration. The Chinese Government is worried about the present disturbances as it wants to gain the confidence of the Powers in view of the removal of the foreign garrisons. (Reuter)

OBITUARY.

VICE-ADMIRAL GRENFELL

The death occurred with painful auddenne

The desth occurred with painful anddenness layt week of Vice Admiral Sir. Harry Tremenhebre Greef Il, K.C.B., C.M.G., second in command in the Mediterranean Fiest. The vice-admiral had recently returned home on sick leave, having left Malta on January 31 in the hospital ship Maine and Isnded at Marseilles on February 6. It was confidently hoped that he would be able to return and rehoist his flag on board the Venerable.

Sir Harry Greafell who was born in March, 1845, was a son of Admiral John Pascoe Grenfell, of the Imperial Brazilian Navy. He entered the Rayal Navy in 1853 and was made a lieutenant in March, 1866. His promotion to commander came as a haul down vacancy in 1876, and in this rank-he commanded the Cockatrice during the Egyptian war, 1882, receiving the Egyptian medd and the Khedive's bronzy star. In 1892 he invented the night sights for ordnance. His commission as dive's bronz; star. In 1892, he invented the night sights for ordnance. His commission as captain was dated February 4, 1896, and when commanding the Benbow he gallantly jumped overboard to resoue a boy who was in dauger of drowning, and with the assistance of ano her officer supported the lad until they were all picked up by a boat. During the operations in Crete, 1896-97, he commanded the Royal Sovereigo, and for his services on this occasion received the C.M.G. in 1900. In March of that year he was raised to flag rank, and in September, 1901, hoisted his flag in the Barflear as second in command on the China Station, afferwards shifting it to the Albion. After a period of two years on that station he returned atterwards shitting it to the Albion. After a period of two years on that station he returned to England, and in October, 1904, was appointed second in command in the Maditerranean, with his flag in the Venerable. In February of last year he became a vice-admiral, and in June year he became a made a K.C.B.

THE DISCOVERY OF NELSON'S FAMOUS MEMORANDUM.

The original draft in Nelson's own handwriting of his famous "General Memoran dum," issued to his captains at Trafalgar, has ("The Daily Telegraph" announces) comtolight, after a concealment of over a hundred years. This masterpiece of naval strategy—extant in the copies distributed by Nelson to his first has passed into a classic and has probably been translated into the language of every nation possessing, a seaboard guage of every nation possessing a seaboard or a ship.

It has become an article of faith to naval at the obsome an article of faith to naval students throughout the world, and, shortly, all will be privileged to see this precious relic, just as he set the words down, with the corrections, with the deletions, with his rough drawing of his own and the enemy! lines of battle at the moment of the "intended attack".

In James's "Naval History" the memo random is printed, and to compare this version (the fair copy) with the original draft is highly (the fair copy) with the original draft is highly instructive. When the representative of "The Daily Telegraph" was permitted to see the Nelson relic he was first struck with the bold, upstanding, and broadside character of the penmanship. Next, he examined the alterations and deletions compared with the fair copy. In the latter occurs early in the Memorandum the sentence, "The second in command will, after my intentions are made known to him, have the entire direction of his line to make the attack upon the enemy," &c.

Nelson pennel this originally, "The scoond Reison penner tins originarly, "In scoond in command will, in fact, command his line and," and then struck out the words from "will" to "ard." A very important deletion is the excision of the sentence in speaking of the enemy, "I shall suppose them forty six sail in the line of battle."

the line of battle."

Again, the opening of the second paragraph of the Memorandum, the fair copy rons: "If the enemy's fleet should be seen to windward in line of battle, and that the two lines and the advancing squadron could fetch them, they will probably be so extended that their van could not succour their rear." Nelson wrote "advanced" for "advancing," and "coan" (co. "could." These are not his corrections. for "could." These are not his corrections; but he corrected to "and that" a sentence bebut he corrected to "and that" a sentence beginning, "but in that position that." And later, when he wrote, "I should therefore probably make the second in command's signal," he had altered "your" to "second in command." Further, in the sentence, "but I look with confidence to a victory before the van of the enemy could succour their rear," the last word was altered from "friends."

In the rough map of the "fatende! attack", Nelson draw four parsillel lines. The top three he labels "B," the forth "B." It is common knowledge that the first monument erested to he labels "B," the fourth "E." It is common knowledge that the first monoment erected to Nelson's fame was raised in Southard. In' Nelson's map "B" stands for "British," and "B" fer "E-emy."

Lastly, as regards these interesting differences and emendations, the following sentence is usually underlined in quoting from the Memorandum, 'No captain can do very wrong if he places his ship along-ide that of an enemy.' Nelson in no way shows that he desired these words to be emphasised, noble and inspiring though they be.

Naturally the question will be a ked 'Wher can this document of such enormous national import be seen?" The an wer is, at Christie's. in about three weeks time. At present little in about three weeks time. At present little more can be divulged, save that it has been in the possession of a family living not far from Merton Abbey—'Bmma's' home—from which the hero staeted for the cruise of ding in glory and death. The experts in Nelson documents pronounce it indubitably genuine. Mr. Stenbouse, a well known authority, is couft fent that it bears all the insignia of being the real and presions lost relia. With it are other important havan papers plonging to the same family, one naval papers belonging to the same family, one of which is a letter by Admiral Sir Thomas Poley, with a sketch map of the Battle of the Nile and a list of ships damaged or "ataunt." Nelson's last letter to Lady Hamilton is in the Neison's last letter to Lady Hamilton is in the British Moseum. It is unfineshed. For his last completed letter £1,035 was given at Sotheby's in 1904 Some years ago Nelso i's autobiography—twenty quarto sheets in his own hand writing—was allowed to go to America.

THE COTTON OPERATOR.

There is a class of speculators in the cotton market who study "straddles," and prefer that wind of risk to what are called. "traight-risks," whether bull of bear. The general operator as rule neglects straddles or does not understand them, but they present certain chances of profi-or loss, whether the market rises or fulls in price. Straddles are (a "Manchester Guardian" correspondent remarks) sometimes between the New York and Liverpool future markets, some times between the Alexandrian and Liverpool future markets, and sometimes between different tow a common—namely, that they are quantities that months in Liverpool or New York. One feature they have in common—namely, that they are usually done in much larger quantities that "straight business." A man who would he is tate to have 1,000 bales open "bull or bear" on a straight risk will enter into a straddle of 2,000 or 3,000 bales on each side with but little hesitation. The reason is not far to seek The straddler has so balanced his operation by sales in one place of as much as he bough in the other that he does not feel himself in in the other that he does not feel himself in much danger. He is only acting for differences, and since he is prepared to take small differences he must take them on large quantities Experience has shown that the most dangerons kind of straddle is one, say, between Liverpool American futures and Egyptian cotton at Alexandria, especially if the operation begins with sales in Alexandria. The Egyptian crop may turn out larger or smaller quite irrespective of the yield in America. There are no keener operators anywhere than those of Alexandria, and none quicker to find out that their market is occasionally oversold on straddle operations. When that position occurs they have sometimes driven up their occurs they have sometimes driven up their market against shorts in a truly remarkable way, and pathaps while American futures in Liverpool were all the time dropping lower. For such reasons straddles between two dif For such reasons straddles between two dif-ferent growths of cotton are now rarer than they were, and whother it be American against Sorats or American against Egyptian such operations present possibilities of loss which seldom apperain to the more simple kinds of straddle. Of these latter two have lately been in favour at Livernovil. One was to buy Liverporl and sell New York at a time-(some week's ago) when New York futures ware relatively very high in comparison with Liver (some week ago) when New York futures were relatively very high in comparison with Liver pool. At that time it was easy to effect this traidle at a difference of 50 points. Of course cutton cannot be imported from New York, taking the different ecus into account. Y rk, taking the different erms into account for 60 points. Consequently, whosever that market is only 60 points, below Liverpool, Morch against March or M-y against May, N-w Work is abnormally high relatively. Straddlers who availed hemselves of the opportunity have since closed those straddles at 72 and 75 points difference, as the markets readjusted the need we to a more even relative position.

The other straddle recently in vogne is tween the old and new err p positions. The theory is, first, that new errop months have been very high in price compared with all been very high in price compared with all recent seasons, except Mr. Solly's year; next, that there never has been much difference between new and old crop values at the end of the season, except in years of real scarcity or years of great speculative activity. The appearances this season indicate that, with a million bales of American in stock and big stocks in America, the end of the season will show abundance, and in t scarcity. Straddless have, therefore, been vantured upon between July old crop and Ostober new crop by sale of July and purchases of October. Some time ago the differences between these months were ago the differences between these months were from 40 to 45 Liverpool points, and they have since shown profits to those who undertook those risks. Another variant, based on the those risks. Another variant, based on the same theory, is a straddle between Augnst-September and September-October, or selling Augnst-September against purchases of September-October. One of the corrissips of this straddle is that these two positions overlap, so that the operator has no need to close until the morning of September 30. This sale of Augnst-September will long before that time have become a "September alore," and his argument is that on September 30 if not long before, there can be no such difference in price between September alone and September October, as the difference at which ha started the operation. This variety of straddle could October as the difference at which he started the operatior. This variety of straddle could be started a short time ago at 20 to 25 points of difference. To-day it is 14 or 15 points difference, and the difference to be to diminish those differences furth r. In f-ct, it these differences were to diminish and disapperal together it would only be what they have more than once done before.

LORD DE CLIFFORD'S ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

rriage of Lord de Clifford The romantic marriage of Lord de Cliffor with Miss Eya Carrington, who up to recently was playing in "Bluebell in Fairyland" at the Aldwych Theatre, London, the news of which event was telegraphed by our London Corre pondent, has created a great flutter in spciet rcles at home circles at home.

It was a very brief and romantic courtship which led up to the marriage. Last September Miss Carrington was playing at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, with Mr. Hicks's company. One night Lord de Clifford occ pied a box, and was greatly struck with the grace and personal attraction of the young actress, who is over six feet in height, very stately, and with many accomplishments She was an exceedingly attractive figure on the stage, for her features are classical in their beauty, and her hair is a attractive figure on the stage, for her features are classical in their beauty, and her hair is a mass of lovely brown curls. She had been with Mr. Seymour Hicks for the last six years. From the first she was a favourite, and according to those who know her best, was marked out for a successful career on the stage. Very soon after Lord de Clifford saw her for the first time a meeting was arranged, and at subsequent, meetings Lord de Clifford was increasingly impressed by the charms of Miss Carrington. While she remained in Ireland they frequently saw each other. Miss Carrington subsequently returned to London, and was quickly engrossed in her part of "Major Domo" in "Bluebell," at the Aldwych Theatre. Lord de Clifford came to Cairo, and Theatre. Lord de Clifford came to Cairo, and there thought much of Miss Carrington Re-cently he returned to London, and at once sought out Miss Carrington. The next day he offered himself as her husband, and was sought out Miss Carrington. The next day he offered himself as her husband, and was accepted.

Their marriage took place very quietly and without the knowledge of more than a few intimates, at a registry office. After the ceremony Lady de Clifford went to a West End dressmaker where she was having costumes, made for her part in the "Bea"ty of Bath." In that play she was to be one of the girls who are designated as "Bath Buns," but instead of being fitted for her stage costumes, she made final arrangements for her wedding trousseau Lord de Clifford, who is a typical specimen of the young military officer, tall and finely got up, was formerly a lieutenant in the Shropshire Imperial Yeomanry, and has more recently been in command of a detachment at Cairo. The first Baron de Clifford was Robert, second Lord of Westmorland, who was summoned to Parliament 1299, was Earl Marshal of England in 1308, and was killed at Bannockburn. The family has given England many gallant soldiers, and has for its motto the fatalistic "What will be, will be. given England many gallant soldiers, and has for its motto the fatalistic "What will be, will be" The present Lord de Clifford succeeded to the title when he was ten years of age.

In an interview at St Albans with a representative of the "Star," Lord de Clifford said "Wewere married at the St Pancras Registrar," "We were married at the St Pancras Registrar's Office, yesterday, very quietly; there were only two witnesses. We motored down here last night, but shall not stay here long. We are going on to-day in the motor to stay somewhere else." In reply to a comment on the unsuitability of the weather for a motor honeymoon, his Lordship said, "Yes, beastly weather for motoring, is not it! b t I am very happy." The interviewer asked the bridegroom whether haves going to be reparried at St. Magraparis. The interviewer asked the bridegroom whether he was going to be remarried at St. Margaret's, Westminster, on Monday, as had been reported. Lord de Clifford replied that he did not know himself yet; it depended upon a telegram he expected to receive from his solicitor, the Hon. Charles Russell. He added: "At any rate, I shall leave England on Monday for Egypt. I am very fond of travel, and have-travelled all over the world, spending thus nearly all my life since I left school." When asked when he first met his bride, Lord de Clifford said: "It really seems so long ago that I cannot remember. It is a love match pure and simple."

pure and simple."

The stage has often produced similar romances, and among other famous marriages of actresses to peers will be remembered those of Miss Connie Gilchrist, who became the Countess of Orkney; Miss Rosie Boote, who wedded the Marquess of Headfort; and Miss Belle Bilton, who married Viscount Dunlo, now Earl of Clancarty.

On a parlé tour à tour de la prolongation de la on a parlé tour à tour de la prolongation de la concession qui, de 6 ans, serait portée à 20 on 30; de la fosion avec la Port-S 14 Salt Association, qui est pourtant loin d'être un fait accompli et qui est même considérée comme une éventualité assez improbable. Toujours est-il que ce titre est revenu aujourd'hui à 26 sh. 9.

D'après certaines rumeurs, l'Egyptian Esta-tes Co distribuerait pour son premier exercice un dividende de 3 sh. par action et constitue rait un tonds de réserve de non moins 200 000 actions restantes.

On sait que le capital nominal de la Société est de £ 500.000, représenté par autant d'actions à £1, dont la moitié seulement a été émise.

En parlant hier de l'Auglo-American Line, nous avions dit que le mouvement de hause sur ce titre devait être attribué, d'une part, à l'excellente situation de la Société à la suite de sa fusion àvec la Hamburg-Amerika Linie; d'autre part, à la plas-value énorme acquise en ces derniers temps par, la propriété de la Comgamie à Boulac, sur les bords du Nil.

Des institutions semblables fonctionnent en Barope depuis longtemps déj et leurs adhérents y ont trouvé un auxiliaire important, qui leur a rendu possible l'application intégrale des garanties édictées en principe par la loi. Le Comité de l'Association du Commerce d'Importation est convaincu que le "Comité de Protection des Créanciers" pourra répondre au double but d'utilié et de moralité drquel il s'inspire, et compte que tous adhèreront à cette nouvelle organisation.

LE PRIX DES TERRAINS EN VILLE

Nous venous d'apprendre la vente faite ces jours derniers par "Th-Egyptian Land I avest-ment Cy", du terrain des anciens Ateliers Autofage au prix de L.E. 30,970 environ. Le bénéfice réalisé, en quelques mois par cette, segiété sur cette affaire est de près de 11,000 l'ives.

BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE

(Aujourd'hui à midi et demis)

Le marché a été très actif ce matin. Ains que nous l'avions prévu dans notre bulletin d'avant hier, les banques se sont un peu raffer mies : la National à 27 1/2 et l'Agricole à 10 1/16. Mais les houneurs de la matinée ont ét r la Dalta Light qui s'est avancée de 12 1/8 à 12 5/8, pour clôturer à 12 9/16 en exce tendance.

De son côté l'Investment, que nous avions recommandé dans notre deruière chronique, alors qu'il était au prix de 1 3/32, clôture aujourd'hoi à 1 11/32 acheteurs. La Société fait preuve d'une grande activité.

En hausse également la Béhéra à 37, la Daira à 18 1/16, l'Union Foncière a 6 7/.6, les Cetton Mille à 6/9 act

Cotten Milis a 6/9, etc.
Par contre, le Comptoir fléchit légèrement à 5 11/16, la Delta Land à 3 1/4, les Estates 1 27/3 t, les Markets à 23/3 et les Egyptia Hotels à 4 13/16.

Hotels à 4 13/16. Si les nouvelles politiques continuent à s'amé-liores, on peut s'attendre à une accentuation sensible de la hausse.

TO O. R VISITORS.

The Egyptian Gazette has much ple in presenting to its subscribers the accompanying description of some of the many interesting routes by which they may travel homewards. Great care has been taken to arrange them as accurately and concisely as possible, and it will be found that none of them are fraught with difficulty. In choosing the route home there are several things to be considered. To begin with there is the difference in climate between Egypt and the various points at which begin with there is the difference in climate between Egypt and the various points at which you may arrive in Europe.

This depends partly upon the month in which you leave Egypt, for Cairo in January may be a little warmer than the Riviera, and possibly not so warm as Sicily, but in March it will be warmer than Rone, and more uniformly warm than many other places in Europe Many people leave Egypt far too early in the year, for as a rule the weather in April and May is perfect. The warmest place te go to on leaving Egypt is Sicily.

Some will want to take into consideration on leaving Egypt is Sicily.

Some will want to take into consideration the number of days to be spent at sea, and we therefore subjoin a list showing the time occupied on each of the various routes between Egypt and the Continent of Europe.

HOTELS EN ROUTE.

The direct route to Sicily is by the Florio-Rubattino Co.'s steamers which leave Alexandria weekly for MESSINA, where one takes train to TAORMINA, one of the moet charming and popular places on the island. Giardinish he station at which to alight, and the drive up to Taormina is most delightful, occupying about one hour. In and around the town is much to interest the visitor. The theatre is of Greek-origin, but restored under the Romans, CATANIA is the starting place for the ascent of Etna and here also is a fine Cathedral. The Greek, Roman, and Saracenic remains that are found all over the island, are an endless sources of pleasure. SYRACUSE has an interesting history, having been a Greek city, which was designed by Demosthenes in B.C. 413, and taken by the Romans in B.C. 212, when Archimedes was slain—his tomb is to be seen. The cathedral was once an ancient pagan temple. PALERMO, with about 300,000 inhabitants, is the capital of the Island, and enjoys a delightful climate. Much of interest is to be found in this fine city. The Palazzo Reale is of Saracenie origin and close to it the church of S. vis vagnad adept Eventit, with tis picturesq'e cloisters. The Cathedral, Museum, Botanic Gardens, Villa Giulia and Royal Park are also worth a visit.

CENTRAL ITALY.

The fine steamers of the North German Loyd leave Alexandria every developed and the season for Naples, the voyage being only 3 days.

NAPLES is also reached in 10 hours from Palermo by the Florio-R battino Co.'s steamers, which leave daily. One cannot approach Naples or leave it without wishing to explore some of its islands, besides the lovely places on its bay—Castellamare and Sorrento. The small steamer that takes you to Sorrento [you can drive too] will take you on to Capri.

From Naples to ROME is a train journey of but hive hours. All who can will devote at least one week to visting the many historical and interesting portions of the Eternal City, whose charms and beauties are too well-known to need comment here.

Leaving the Eternal City with much regret, a railway journey of five hours brings you to FLORENCE, where another week can well be spent admiring the City of Flowers and its strounding country. In Florence itself the churches and galleries are of absorbing interest, whilst the local promenades and excursions should not be omitted. The Cascine is the most attractive and fashionable promenade in Florence, whilst the Viald dei Colli, one of the finest walks in Europe, opened 35 years ago, goes winding up through the hills a distance of four miles. The most delightful excursion outside Florence is that the Vallombrosa, with its Monastery 3,300 feet above the sea level. This is made first by ordinary train from Florence to St. Ellero, thence by cogwheel railway to Saltino. The ascent through groves of oaks takes an hour, and most striking panoramas are unfolded to view.

PISA 'is easily reached from Florence in about 2 hours; here there is a fine Cathedral and the Leaning Tower. A stay of at least one night should if possible be made, in order to enjoy the view from the Campanile at sunset.

VIAREGGIO. One of the most delightful places on the Italian Riviera near Pisa and on the main line from Rome to Genoa. It is a very convenient half-way house between Egypt and England, and where living is reasonab

The patriarchal home of Italy's most ancient nobility, whose palaces, gardens, and famous collections of statuary, frescoes, and paintings, are a constant delight to thousands of travellers who annually sojourn in Genoa. Then there are the superbly decorated medieval churches containing exquisite marble columns and historical paintings, and the incomparable Campo Santo filled with its wonderful tombs.

From Genoa to Milan is a matter of only three hours by rail.

MILAN is a good centre for Northern Italy before making the tor of the Lakes. The Cathedral is the principal attraction, with its beautiful windows illustrating the History of the Bible. The public gardens and the monumental cemetery are also worth a visit.

Between Bologna and Milan and only an hour and a half from Milan is SALSOMAG-GIORE, a renowned health resort on account of its thermal springs, change trains at Borgo San Donno and in half-an-hour you are at Salsomaggiore. The patriarchal home of Italy's most ar

The most expensive but quickest through Continental routes are by P. & O. Brindisi express from Port Said, and the Austrian Lloyd Trieste-Vienna express from Alexandria. As regards heavy luggage, it must be bornein mind that very little. luggage is allowed free on the railways of Europe, but there are several good and responsible forwarding agents in Egypt who undertake at a fixed charge to deliver packages to any address in Europe. The quickest mannier of getting to Europe-from Port Said is undoubtedly by the fast Mail Steamers "Osiris" and "Isis" to Brindisi. One of these leaves Port Said every week, as soon as possible after receiving the Indian steamers are largely patronised by travellers to Egypt.

As regards the train journeys from Cairo, the shortest is that to Alexandria, without change (3 hours). That to Port Said, can now be made without change in 4½ hours.

The least expensive way to England is by the Moss, Papayanni, Prince, and Westcott lines of steamers from Alexandria to Liverpool. The German Levant line has also good steamers from Alexandria to Hamburg.

VENICE is a 5 hours journey by rail from Milan, and one of the most delightful places imaginable to pass a quiet stay. The total absence of vehicular traffic strikes one as very strange; no horse, cart, carriage or biologe is to be seen, aird yet there is the sonond of life at every turn. The approach to Venice from the Adriatic is unlike that of any other seaport. The town seems to be gradually, like Aphrodite, born of the see, no hills behind, no stretches of rock, but first the tops of Campaniles appear above the borizon, then slowly the whole glittering town rises like a fairy mirage out of the calpi lagoon.

Going northwards from Milan you.nake the tour of the beautiful Italian lakes.

COMO, the birthplace of the younger Pliny, is reached in one-and a quarter hours by train by way of Monza:

Boats leave Como frequently for the other towns on the lake, which is very beautiful, and the seenery on either side going up the lake is most acceptance.

the scenery on either side going up the lake is most enchanting. CERNOBBIO is a charming spot; then come Tremezzo, Cadenabbia, and spot; then come Tremezzo, Cadenobia, and Menaggio with the prettily-situated town of Bellaggio opposite. The walk from Tremezzo along the shore of the lake to Menaggio is most enjoyable. A steam tram runs from Menaggio to Porlezza on Lake Lugano in three-quarters of an hour, then steamer to Lugano in two-and-three-quarter hours.

SWITZERLAND.

Switzerland, the heart of Europe, has been scribed as "A cluster of delights and Switzerland, the heart of Europe, has been described as "A cluster of delights and grandeurs."

LUGANO is some 20 miles from Como and reached by train in one-and-a-half hours. It has a population of 10,000 people- and is charmingly situated on the Lake of-Eugano, amidat lovely Italian scenery. Aro and it rise M. San Salvetore, M. de Caprino and M. Generoso.

LUCARNO may be reached by rail from Bellinzona in forty minntes. This pretty town, situated at the top of Lake Maggiore, has a mild climate, and is an excellent winter resort. The church Madonna del Sasso, situated above the town, is worth a visit, as it contains interesting paintings, "Entombment," by Ciseri, and "The Flight into Egyft," by Branantion.

LUCERNE.—A striking picture on the Lake of Lucerne facing the Rigi and Pilatus and the snow-clad Alps.

In and around the town the walks are flaming, and the excursions to be made from Lucerne by boat, rail, etc., are very numerous. The Like of Lucerne abounds in delightful excursions, those to the Rigi, Pilatus, Burgen stock and Somenberg needing a special visit each. Uther excursions on the lake can be made by steamer, and the ever-changing scenery on the trip from Lucerne to Fluelen is a source of delight to the lover of nature.

BRUNNEN, charmingly situated on the most beautiful part of the Lake of Lucerne commands magnificent views of lake and mountain scenery. Along, the Lake of Urform Brunnen to Fluelen, runs the famous Azentrasse.

A delightful excursion from Lucerne is ALL Delight Delight of the Lucerne is ALL Delight Delight from Brunnen to Fluelen, runs the famous Axentrasse.

A delightful excursion from Lucerne is that to ENGELBERG. Take boat to Stansstad and from Stansstad it is about 1 hour and 40 min. by Electric Railway, with delightful seenery en route. The ascent of Titlia, is made from here, and the panoramic view of the Alps is grand; extending from Monte Rosa to the Black Forest, and from the Santis to the Matterho'n.

THE BERNESE OBERLAND.—INTERLAKEN a favourite summer resort and the best centre for making excursions in the Oberland, abounding in fine walks and views. There is a magnificent view of the Jungfrau frem the Hoheweg, a fine avenue of walnut trees the chief resort of visitors. Interlaken is also not far from the famous waterfalls, Giestbeth, Trummelbach and Staubbreh. They also the glaciers of Grindelwald and view from Murren and the Schynige Platte are sights not to be missed.

CHATEAU DOEX. 3,500 ft. above the set on the new Electric Railway between Montreus and Interlaken, surrounded by magnificen scenery, with pure dry air. Much frequente by English people in Summer and Winter

GREECE and IONIAN ISLES.

Many people visit Greece after wintering in Egypt, as it is so easily reached from Alexandria; the climate in Aprilia charming. The best steamers are those of the Rhedivial Mail Co. and the Russian Steam Navigation Co.

If possible tourists should arrange to be in Athens for the Orthodox Easter in order to witness the Good Friday and Easter Eve ceremonies, and to be presen at the dancing on the Easter Tresday festival held at Megara for which a special train is run from Athens.

It is worth while-to-spend a few days in for which a special tram is run from Athens.

It is worth while to spend a few days in CORFU on account of the beauty of the seenery. There is also good snipe and quai shooting to be had:-

These small but comfortable ships have enormously powerful engines, and attain a very high rate of speed. They are called the 'Ferry boats,' having been specially built to carry the British mail from Fort Said to Brindisi. If you are going straight through to England yo will find the train waiting at Brindisi which will take you to Calais without changing. It has complete arrangements for sleeping and eating on board, and you should arrive in London on the fifth day from leaving Port Said.
